

Medallion Athletic Products Job Profile: Winthrop University Softball Complex

JULY 2009

Netting system will eliminate risk of fan injury

When the 2009 softball season began at Winthrop University, a major problem at their softball complex had been resolved. During the past few seasons fans had been constantly dodging errant foul balls coming from the four different fields. The netting system that was in place was not adequate to handle the amount of foul balls produced by the many teams playing at the same time on the four fields. Winthrop contacted Medallion Athletic Products in hopes that a solution to their netting problem could be found. This wasn't the first time that Winthrop had worked with Medallion. Previously, Medallion installed a new backstop net at the baseball field. As for the netting at the softball complex, Medallion worked closely with the university and designed a 45,000 square foot netting system that would cover the entire seating area for all four fields, eliminating the chance that fans would come into contact with a foul ball. "The performance of the netting has done everything that we wanted it to do", said Dan Murray, Director of Facilities at the university. "It put's such an unbelievable signature on our facility".

Since 1996, Medallion has established a reputation as the premier athletic surfacing and equipment installation contractors in the United States.
